

EDPlan Insight™ for Indigenous Students

Data to drive student success

The use of data to drive school improvement efforts is essential in today's education landscape. EDPlan Insight, PCG Canada's modern data analytics platform, now has an Indigenous Services module.

The module is designed to conveniently send the right Indigenous student information to the right people in real time—ensuring that these students are receiving the appropriate enhanced supports when needed. The module's comprehensive data management functions include collection, storage, analysis, and distribution of student data.

Enhance support and data management for the learning success of all Indigenous students.

On its own, EDPlan Insight provides classroom teachers, district leaders, and school administrators with rich data, such as student grades, attendance, behavior information, local and districtwide assessments, etc. In addition to providing this information, the Indigenous Services module gives support staff access to enter data related to enhanced services that Indigenous students receive—on a daily basis.

Through the Indigenous Services module, your entire team will have access to monitor enhanced support plans for Indigenous students, and teachers can focus on the needs of individual students using meaningful data.
